

Daniel R Curran

Languages

Java	C/C++	PHP	Perl
Python	Ruby	JavaScript	PL/SQL
HTML/XHTML	CSS	XML	XSL

Technologies

AJAX	Cocoon	J2EE	LAMP
REST	Ruby on Rails	SOAP

Tools

Eclipse	Adobe Photoshop	Adobe Flash	Blender3D
MySQL	Apache HTTP Server	Apache Axis	Apache Tomcat
Oracle 9i/10	SQL Server 2000/2003	Weblogic	TOAD

Experience

RealNet

Senior Developer June 2005 – Present

- Provide technical leadership for a team of developers on the RealNet web application
- Developed a records management system to facilitate financial record keeping
- Made use of Java and XML within the Cocoon Framework to implement new functionality
- Wrote Python scripts to automate form creation and other file management tasks
- Created and updated Oracle tables, views and stored procedures
- Used AJAX to develop a web client which communicated with an Axis/Soap based web service
- Participated in the AJAX based redesign of the dottech.com website
- Provide time and cost estimates for custom client development
- Received Peer Recognition Award in Quarter Two, 2006

Element K

System Support Specialist September 2004- June 2005

- Responsible for uploads to the Cisco Learning Management System
- Created programs to automate repetitive tasks and to assist in content creation
- Responsible for troubleshooting defects within the LMS application
- Provided high level quality assurance feedback to content creators

Stony Brook University – Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs

Lead Web Master / Technical Support February 2002 – June 2003

- Provided leadership for a team of web developers and designers
- Developed and maintained the sixteen Student Affairs departmental web sites
- Provided office-wide and campus-wide technical support
- Received 2nd place Student Employee of the Year Award

Education

Stony Brook University

Degree: Bachelors of Computer Science

Date of Graduation: August 2004